EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

A breakthrough supplement, not another LMS module.

MBA Rock is the comprehensive operator's MBA — 10 modules · 74 lessons · 49 original songs · 18 founder calculators · a 10-section Capstone — designed to plug into your existing program as an onramp, a co-branded executive-ed module, or a core curriculum supplement. The format is different. The retention is different. The student artifact at the end is fundamentally different.

Why this matters for your institution

Differentiated brand position. While peers add another video-only course library, you add a multi-modal, music-anchored, operator-first MBA — co-brandable, white-label-ready.

Enrollment lever. A free or low-cost MBA Rock onramp doubles as a top-of-funnel lead magnet. Prospects experience your brand before they apply.

Better graduating artifact. Every student finishes with the Operator's Dossier — a real, defensible business plan, not a hat-toss. Alumni keep using it. Recruiters love it.

Faster to launch than building in-house. Curriculum, songs, calculators, accessibility, and infrastructure are already built. Integration in 4-6 weeks with SCORM, LTI, or direct embed.

Measurable on day one. Module certificates, Capstone outputs, and per-lesson progress feed straight into your reporting.

The single sentence: MBA Rock turns your program from a credential into a completion — students graduate with a finished business plan, not just a degree, and they walk into year one already fluent in cash flow, moats, unit economics, and capital strategy.

THE OPPORTUNITY

The MBA value question is everyone's enrollment problem.

Across North America, full-time MBA applications have softened over the last decade as prospective students reassess two-year, six-figure programs against self-paced alternatives, micro-credentials, and the implicit cost of leaving the workforce. Online and exec-ed enrollment has filled some of the gap — but the operator audience has continued to walk past the credential.

What this looks like at the program level

Programs that compete on brand alone face pricing compression. Programs that compete on rigor alone face attendance compression. The institutions winning the operator audience are doing one of three things:

- Adding a low-friction onramp so prospects can experience the curriculum before committing.

- Branding a tangible deliverable students take into the workforce.

- Building a memorable, distinctive format that travels beyond the lecture hall.

MBA Rock does all three.

MBA Rock is the first MBA-grade curriculum delivered with original songs as memory anchors, an end-to-end operator's plan as the graduating artifact, and an accessibility floor (WCAG 2.1 AA) on every page. It was designed to be folded into existing programs rather than to replace them — which is why every integration model below is co-brandable with the host institution.

"The institutions winning the operator audience are doing one of three things. MBA Rock does all three — onramp, deliverable, distinctive format — in one product, co-brandable to the host institution."

THE PRODUCT

What MBA Rock actually contains.

Every element below is already built and live at mbarock.com — not a roadmap, not a beta. Your faculty and admin team can evaluate the full curriculum in advance.

LIFETIME USE

The 10 modules map cleanly to standard MBA core

Strategy & vision	Customer & problem
Product, service & operations	Moats & defensibility
Unit economics	Operations & process
Capital & finance	Marketing & brand
Analytics & learning	Innovation & next plays

Every lesson has the same architecture

A short, focused video (3-7 minutes) anchored to a single concept.

The module's song — designed as a memory anchor for the framework.

Four to seven core concepts presented with worked examples.

A 'take action' prompt that pushes a worked output into the Capstone.

A short mastery quiz that issues a per-lesson completion credit.

Pedagogically distinctive. The combination of structured text, video, calculator, and song produces multi-modal encoding — the same concept reaches the student through four channels. Retention curves on multi-modal material consistently outperform single-channel material in formal learning-science studies.

THE BREAKTHROUGH

The Operator's Dossier: a graduating artifact students actually use.

Most MBA-style programs send students into the world with a diploma, a transcript, and maybe a deck. MBA Rock students graduate with the Operator's Dossier — a structured, exportable, real business plan built across 10 sections, one per module, alongside the curriculum.

Why this changes the graduation experience

When a student finishes Module 1, they finish Section 1 of their Dossier. By the time they finish Module 10, the Dossier is a complete 10-section operator's plan — covering strategy, customer, product, moat, unit economics, operations, capital, marketing, analytics, and the next 12 months of plays. Every entry is grounded in the calculators they ran on their own numbers and the take-action prompts they answered while studying the corresponding lesson.

Why it drives lifelong success

Living, not static. The Dossier updates as the student's business evolves. Year-three founders return to the platform to rewrite Section 5 (Unit Economics) after their first scale event.

Exportable on demand. One-click export produces a polished PDF — what your students hand to investors, banks, partners, and recruiters.

Co-brandable with your institution. When your students export, the cover and footer carry both MBA Rock's mark and your program's seal.

Career outcome lever. A real business plan or strategic plan, written under coaching, is a more useful job-interview artifact than a transcript. Your career services team has something concrete to coach against.

Alumni engagement loop. Returning to update the Dossier keeps alumni inside your ecosystem long after graduation — a measurable retention metric.

The Dossier IS the credential. Diplomas hang on walls. Dossiers sit on desks. Programs that ship Dossiers are the ones alumni cite ten years out as the thing that mattered.

INTEGRATION MODELS

Three ways institutions plug MBA Rock in.

Each model is co-brandable, supports SCORM, LTI, and direct embed, and is modifiable to your existing curriculum sequence. Programs typically choose one model to start with and expand into a second within 12 months.

Model 1 · Pre-program Onramp

Incoming students complete MBA Rock the summer before matriculation. By Day 1 of the cohort, they share a common vocabulary in cash flow, unit economics, moats, and strategic positioning — freeing your faculty to teach higher-order content earlier in the academic year.

Who it's for: b-schools, online MBA programs, executive MBA programs.

Expected outcome: faster Year-1 ramp, higher early engagement, lower attrition through midterms, common-vocabulary baseline.

Optional white-label: Cover and Dossier export carry your institution's seal alongside the MBA Rock mark.

Model 2 · Co-branded Executive-Ed Module

Your institution sells MBA Rock as a stand-alone executive-education offering for mid-career professionals who don't want the full degree. Branded as "[Your Institution] presents MBA Rock," with revenue-share or fee-per-seat economics.

Who it's for: institutions with exec-ed programs and a regional/national brand to extend.

Expected outcome: new revenue line; broader brand reach into the operator audience; alumni-network expansion via Dossier-issuing.

Optional white-label: Full co-branding, including domain (e.g., mba.youruniversity.edu).

Model 3 - Core Curriculum Supplement

MBA Rock runs alongside your existing core curriculum as the 'applied operator's track' — every academic course pairs with the matching MBA Rock module for the applied, calculator-driven, song-anchored layer. Students complete both. Credit and certificates are co-issued.

Who it's for: programs that want to deepen application of theory without rebuilding the academic core.

Expected outcome: stronger retention and recall of frameworks; richer Capstone deliverables; differentiated graduating-class profile.

Optional white-label: Module pacing aligned to your semester calendar; faculty assistance in mapping content.

Bonus configurations on request

Programs have asked about additional adoption patterns: an alumni-only continuing education subscription (Dossier kept current, new lessons issued quarterly), a high-potential leadership track for select cohorts, and an outcomes-research partnership where the institution publishes retention/career-outcome data alongside MBA Rock. We are open to all of these.

Implementation reality. Most partner programs launch in 4-6 weeks from signed agreement: 2 weeks for curriculum mapping, 1-2 weeks for LMS integration, 1 week of faculty onboarding, 1 week of test cohort.

IMPACT

How adopting MBA Rock moves enrollment.

Enrollment is increasingly downstream of two things: brand differentiation and top-of-funnel experience. MBA Rock improves both, measurably.

1 · Top-of-funnel lead generation

An MBA Rock onramp — even at zero or near-zero cost — gives prospects a real experience of your program before they apply. The Dossier they begin during the onramp seeds an applicant pipeline measurable in weeks, not semesters.

2 · Differentiated brand positioning

Programs increasingly compete on undifferentiated features (faculty, ranking, alumni network). MBA Rock offers a distinctive, ownable line for your marketing: "The only program where every concept is anchored by a song — and every student graduates with a real business plan." That line writes itself into your admissions copy.

3 · Expanded addressable market

The operator audience — practitioners, indie founders, mid-career career-changers — rarely converts on a traditional MBA pitch. MBA Rock-style positioning opens a demographic that historically walks past your enrollment funnel.

4 · Conversion lift on the application path

Prospects who complete even a single MBA Rock module convert at meaningfully higher rates than those who only encountered standard marketing. The product itself is the strongest sales asset.

Operational note. All MBA Rock surfaces are instrumented for GA4-style tracking. Your admissions team gets attribution from onramp → application without additional integration work.

How the Dossier compounds for lifelong student success.

Lifelong success is measured in three dimensions: career outcomes within five years of graduation, alumni engagement with the institution over twenty years, and the practical utility of what students take with them on day one. MBA Rock — anchored by the Operator’s Dossier — moves all three.

Career outcomes within five years

Recruiters and investors meeting your alumni encounter a tangible artifact rather than a transcript. A first-job, founder-led, or operator-track interview anchored in the Dossier converts at a measurably different rate than one anchored only in a résumé. The Dossier is, in effect, a portfolio piece that proves your program produces strategically literate operators.

Alumni engagement at year 5, 10, and 20

The Dossier is designed to be returned to. As an alumna’s business evolves, she logs back in to rewrite Section 5 (Unit Economics) or Section 8 (Marketing & Brand). Every return visit is a touch point with your institution’s brand. Programs see measurable lift in alumni-event attendance, philanthropy participation, and referral pipelines as a downstream of this engagement loop.

Day-one practical utility

The take-action prompts and 18 founder calculators ensure that what a student learns on Tuesday is something they can use on Wednesday. This is the most-cited alumni complaint about traditional MBA programs — academic theory disconnected from operational practice. MBA Rock closes that gap, by design.

Measurable outputs your institution can publish

METRIC	WHAT IT TELLS YOU
Module certificates issued	Per-student, per-cohort, time-stamped
Capstone completion rate	% of cohort with 10 of 10 sections complete
Dossier word-count median	Proxy for depth of strategic thinking
Time-to-first-Dossier-revision	Alumni engagement lead indicator
Career outcome at +24 months	Self-reported, exportable as a cohort report

IMPLEMENTATION

4-6 weeks from signed agreement to first cohort.

Every institution we work with launches in roughly the same window: four to six weeks from contract signature to the first cohort going live. Below is the standard sequence; your dedicated MBA Rock liaison customizes it to your calendar.

WEEK	PHASE	WHAT HAPPENS
WEEK 1	Kickoff & curriculum mapping	Faculty consultation, alignment to your course catalog, identification of the integrat
WEEK 2	White-label & brand setup	Co-branded cover, Dossier export styling, optional custom domain, faculty-onboar
WEEK 3	LMS integration	SCORM package, LTI launch, or direct iframe embed into Canvas, Blackboard, M
WEEK 4	Faculty onboarding & test cohort	1-hour faculty walkthrough, sandbox account for 10-20 testers, end-to-end verifica

Support and onboarding included

Every institutional partnership includes: dedicated launch liaison, faculty onboarding session, monthly office-hours with the MBA Rock team, dedicated Slack or email channel for student-experience questions, and quarterly content updates released to your cohorts at no additional cost.

ECONOMICS

Pricing and partnership economics.

Per-seat pricing scales down with cohort size. Integration fees vary based on the level of white-labeling and LMS customization required. Revenue-share structures are available for institutions reselling MBA Rock as a co-branded executive-ed offering.

TIER	PER-SEAT PRICE	WHAT'S INCLUDED
Tier 1 · 20–49 seats	$349 / seat	Standard onramp; co-branded cover and Dossier; SCORM or direct er
Tier 2 · 50–199 seats	$249 / seat	Above + LTI integration + faculty walkthrough + monthly office-hours.
Tier 3 · 200+ seats	Under $150 / seat	Above + dedicated launch liaison + custom curriculum mapping + co-b

One-time integration fees

A one-time integration fee covers curriculum mapping, white-label setup, LMS integration, and faculty onboarding. Typical range: $5,000–$25,000 depending on complexity and white-label depth. Waivable for pilots in qualifying programs.

Revenue-share for co-branded resale (Model 2)

When your institution resells MBA Rock as a co-branded executive-education product, the standard split is 60/40 favoring the host institution after MBA Rock's per-seat fixed cost. We size the model around your existing exec-ed price points; we never undercut your retail.

Comparable benchmark. Building an equivalent curriculum in-house — 10 modules of MBA-grade content, 49 original audio tracks, 18 functional calculators, a 10-section structured Capstone with export, and accessibility compliance — would typically cost a program $500K–$1.5M and 12–18 months of internal team time. MBA Rock collapses that to weeks and a per-seat economics line that scales with usage.

NEXT STEPS

How to start a partnership conversation.

If MBA Rock fits one of your program goals — onramp, exec-ed extension, or core supplement — the next step is a 30-minute call with the founder. You'll get a walkthrough mapped specifically to your program's current curriculum, and a scoped proposal within five business days.

Three ways to begin

- 1 • Discovery call (30 min). Email CEO@trufflebearoil.com with your program name, target cohort size, and integration model of interest. We respond within one business day.
- 2 • Sample lesson review. Visit mbarock.com/sample to experience a single full lesson — same architecture as every paid lesson — before scheduling a call.
- 3 • Faculty walkthrough. For programs ready to evaluate, MBA Rock will host a 60-minute live faculty walkthrough at no cost. Up to 25 faculty seats included.

Pilot programs for qualifying institutions

For a small number of institutions per academic year, MBA Rock offers a heavily discounted pilot: 20-50 seats at our cost, in exchange for outcome data we can share (anonymized) in case-study form. If your program is interested in being one of these pilot partners, mention 'pilot interest' in your initial email.
